DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 1, 3-5, and 7-22 (renumbered as claims 1-20) are allowable. The restriction requirement among species, as set forth in the Office action mailed on 6 February 2007, has been reconsidered in view of the allowability of claims to the elected invention pursuant to MPEP § 821.04(a). The restriction requirement is hereby withdrawn as to any claim that requires all the limitations of an allowable claim.

Claims 5, 21, and 22, directed respectively to: a method wherein the captured image is larger than the field of view of the head mounted display, and only a portion of the captured image is displayed therein (claim 5);

a method when portions parts of the second field of view for which image data is unavailable are detected, earlier captured image data is located, which when transformed in dependence upon its associated camera position data and the HMD position data is for display within the said parts, and the transformed earlier captured image data is displayed in those parts of the field of view (claim 21);

and a method wherein the transformed earlier captured image data is de-emphasized relative to current captured image data (claim 22), are no longer withdrawn from consideration because the claims require all the limitations of an allowable claim (in this case, elected independent claim 1).

In view of the above noted withdrawal of the restriction requirement, applicants are advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

Once a restriction requirement is withdrawn, the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 121 are no longer applicable. See In re Ziegler, 443 F.2d 1211, 1215, 170 USPQ 129, 131-32 (CCPA 1971). See also MPEP § 804.01.

2. Applicant's election with traverse of Species I (i.e., claims 1, 3, 4, and 7-20) in the reply filed on 18 June 2007 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the claims corresponding to Species I and II relate to the same technical concept. This is not found persuasive. However, as explained above, in view of the allowability of claims to the elected invention pursuant to MPEP § 821.04(a), such arguments are moot. The restriction requirement is withdrawn as to any claim that requires all the limitations of an allowable claim.

Drawings

3. The drawings were received on 8 November 2006. These drawings are acceptable.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1, 3-5, and 7-22 (renumbered as claims 1-20) are allowed.

5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The present invention comprises a method of motion compensation for a head mounted display. The prior art, Hirose et al ("Transmission of Realistic Sensation: Development of Virtual Dome," Proc. IEEE VRAIS 93, IEEE Neural Networks Council, Piscataway, N.J., 01- 1993, pp. 125-131), discloses a method of motion compensation for head mounted displays comprising the steps of: providing a captured image [Fig. 1; Image Data] from an image capture device [Fig. 1; Camera Head] to a head mounted display [Fig. 1; HMD] (see Section 1) including a display [Fig. 3; Eyephone] having a field of view [i.e. scope of view]; providing camera position data [Fig. 3; via Camera Head Controller] relating to a position of the camera and associated with the captured image [Fig. 3; via Frame Grabber]; providing HMD position data [i.e. head orientation] relating to a position of the head mounted display; transforming [Fig. 3; via Virtual Dome Generator] the image to vary a displayed location of static objects [see Figs. 5, 6, 9, 11] within the image relative to the field of view in accordance with the camera position data and the HMD position data; and, displaying portions of the image at the displayed locations, those portions remaining within the field of view (see Sections 2.1-2.3).

However, as argued by the applicants (on Pages 11-14 of the Amendment filed 10 August 2006), the prior art does not expressly teach a method of motion compensation for a head mounted display (HMD) wherein a camera tracks movement, subject to possible delay, of an operator's head to capture images within a field of view controlled by the orientation of the operator's head, wherein for each captured image received by the computer comparing the HMD position data with the camera position data associated with the captured image to determine whether an offset exists between a first field of view associated with the captured image and a second field of view corresponding to the current position of the head mounted display; and in the absence of a said offset displaying the captured image or a portion thereof in the head mounted display; and in the presence of said offset, transforming the captured image to create a transformed image comprising a portion of said captured image that overlaps said first and second fields of view and displaying said transformed image in the head mounted display in a part of said second field of view, the position of said part of said second field of view in the head mounted display corresponding to the position of the overlapping portion of the captured image in the second field of view, in combination with the remaining features and subject matter of the instantly claimed invention.

This distinct structural and operational arrangement has been incorporated into both pending independent claims (i.e. claims 1 and 18 -- renumbered as claims 1 and 16), thereby rendering them allowable.

Any comments considered necessary by applicants must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
